

YOUNG WOMAN SENDS A MASHER SPRAWLING IN CAR

Miss Isabelle Graham Then Calls for Assistance and Men Detain the Offender.

IS HURRIED TO COURT.

Gets Off With a Light Fine Because He Has Wife and Family.

On a close packed car of a Third Avenue train coming south at the top of the rush hour to-day a good-looking young woman suddenly cried out and gave a man a shove that sent him sprawling in the aisle.

Then, forcing a passage through a narrow lane of interested strap-hangers, the young woman, her face scarlet and her whole frame trembling with indignation, ran to the platform and appealed to the guard for protection. She said that the man, who was now picking himself up, had grossly insulted her, and she demanded that he be arrested.

Men Guard Masher.

This happened just above Fifty-ninth street. A group of men passengers, taking the girl's side, volunteered to see that the alleged offender stayed on the train until a policeman could be summoned. The guard next ordered the man to get off the train and to wait at the Forty-second street station. Special Officer Casey was waiting. He took the man in charge and escorted him to the Yorkville Police Court. The girl went along to make the complaint. She proved to be Miss Isabelle Graham, twenty years old, of No. 26 West Ninetieth street, a maker of artificial flowers.

Still quivering with anger, Miss Graham told Magistrate Hermann that without speaking to her the prisoner had offered her flagrant indignities. "And I'm perfectly willing to lose a day's pay and even to risk my place," she added, "if I can put this creature where he will not be able to annoy respectable girls on their way to work."

He Denied the Charge.

The alleged culprit insisted that he could not speak English. He told the court interpreter that he was Frank Feloneno, thirty-five years old, of No. 215 East One Hundred and Thirty-eighth street. He said that for his work as a millinery street jewelry shop he got wages of $15.00 a week and that out of this he had to care for a wife and five children. He denied that he had done anything improper.

POLICE MAY CONTRIBUTE.

Allowed to Aid Fund for Benefit of Petrosino's Widow.

Police Commissioner Bingham to-day issued a circular letter to the members of the Police Department granting them permission to subscribe to a fund for the benefit of the widow of Lieut. Petrosino, who was murdered in Palermo, Italy, on March 12 last. Petrosino left a widow and one child.

The Commissioner says that individual contributions should not exceed 50 cents, and distinctly states that no man need contribute unless he feels inclined to do so.

MOTORMAN IS HELD.

Motorman Edward Kelly, thirty-eight, of No. 45 West Tenth street, was arraigned in the West Side Court this morning before Magistrate Cortigan charged with homicide. Yesterday afternoon the car he was running ran over eighty-year-old John Duffy, of No. 113 West Sixty-third street, who died in the Roosevelt Hospital. Kelly was remanded to the Coroner's office for examination.

Women Unite to Wage Battle Against a Tax on Stockings.

Organizing All Over the Country to Oppose the Proposed Duty.

45,000 IN PROTEST HERE.

City Federation of Clubs Plans Monster Mass Meetings in City.

The fight on the tax on women's stockings will probably be brought into New York to-morrow at the meeting of the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs. This body represents 45,000 women, every one of whom is believed to resent the effort of Speaker Cannon's Ways and Means Committee to bolster up the nation's finances by a discriminating tax upon the stockings which they and their children must wear. One of the first steps in the campaign will be the calling of a general mass meeting of women, without regard to club affiliations, to protest against the stocking tax.

Miss Mary Garrett Hay, vice-president of the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs, has prepared a resolution which she will offer at the meeting of the executive council to-morrow if the rules of the meeting, which is called to settle certain routine matters, will allow. She said to-day:

"I feel that the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs will realize that such a proposal as imposing duties on articles of domestic consumption, such as tea, gloves, stockings, woolen goods, etc., is just such a matter as the Federation can wrestle with in order to convince non-club women of the interest club women feel in the big subject of woman's greatest good."

Votes Would Help Some.

"On April 7 the matter will come up at a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Interurban Woman Suffrage Council. As a suffragist, I realize for the millionth time how much more effective would be every woman's name on every petition to Congress, if there was a vote behind every woman's signature."

Miss Hay said that the matter undoubtedly would have been taken up by the women's clubs and federations before there had been any meeting of importance since the tariff schedules were announced. "There undoubtedly will be a free-for-all mass-meeting," she said.

The New York women of Indiana birth and parentage, banded together as the Daughters of Indiana, already have put into effect a scheme to influence by letters and petitions all the Congressmen and Senators of Indiana, New Jersey and New York. They are concerned, too, in the added duties on gloves.

Experts on the stocking industry thus describe the real effect of the increased tax on women's stockings:

The Payne Tariff bill proposes that plain cotton and silk thread stockings retailed at twenty-five, thirty-five and fifty cents shall be taxed at eighty per cent. of their value instead of sixty per cent. as now. At present there are imported each year $8,945,750 worth of stockings.

Philadelphia Firm Wants Duty.

In 1908 we manufactured in this country about $5,000,000 worth of stockings. The effect of the Payne duty will be to cut down imports about one half, while it will raise our production only about six per cent. because with an increased price of stockings not so many will be sold.

The additional tax on women's stockings is said by these experts to be asked for not by the American stocking manufacturers generally, but by a particular firm in Philadelphia, which runs a foreign factory with foreign methods and machinery, and desires especial protection against foreign competition. The experts say that the effect of the new tariff bill will be to create a trust in certain grades in stockings, or at least such a trade condition that the Philadelphia firm will control the market and can raise the price of middle grade grade stockings as high as it pleases.

Women's federations and clubs all over the country are organizing for the battle. It is even reported that many women's Republican campaign clubs are considering the use of their influence, not only directly, but through the men on whom their campaign efforts have been exerted.

ARMY MEN DOUBT CRAZY SNAKE IS HELD PRISONER

Muskegee Militiamen Reported to Have the Chief, Who Is Badly Wounded.

HENRYETTA, Okla., March 31.—The report that Crazy Snake had been captured or surrendered is not confirmed. Col. Hoffman telephoned from Pierce today that the rumor was groundless. Similar reports were received over the long distance telephone from Checotah, Muskogee and Thompson.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., March 31.—Chief Crazy Snake's uprising appears to have collapsed. It ended with his reported capture last night at a point, indefinitely fixed, west of Checotah. Much mystery surrounds the taking of the chief, but it appears he was captured by, or surrendered to, individuals, who are keeping the fact quiet until the Indian leader has been safely landed in jail.

The chief is said to be suffering from a severe wound in the thigh. The militiamen, it is reported, were fully able to protect their prisoner, but did not wish to parade him, as the locality has had excitement enough during the last six days. Many of the leading aides already had been captured, and the chief himself had been ready for two days to surrender, but feared for his personal safety.

Crazy Snake became a prisoner as a result of his negotiations with the militiamen. He sent in a courier and offered to surrender if some of the soldiers would accompany his messenger to his hiding place and guarantee him protection.

"Why didn't he surrender before then?" was asked. "He has had abundant opportunity."

"He is afraid of the scouts and deputies, and would not surrender to them because he thought they would kill him."

The soldiers accepted the offer and the capture was made. This fact was kept secret several hours for reasons best known to the officers. A despatch from Henryetta expressed the fear that the capture of Crazy Snake would incite the Indians throughout the State to an uprising and make stern measures necessary on the part of the State authorities.

It generally was agreed, however, that the fall of the leader would end the long and useless reign of the Snake Indian band.

FAMILY IN FIRE PERIL.

Narrow Escapes at Picture Show Blase That Set Him Aflame.

BORNTOWN, N. J., March 31.—Fire early to-day destroyed a one-story wooden building on Farnsworth avenue, used as a moving picture place by H. A. Lehman, and damaged a frame house adjoining it, occupied by Edward Reel, a restaurant keeper, and which was owned by Walter M. Carlisle. The Reel family lost almost everything and barely escaped with their lives. The loss on the picture show property was about $500 and on the restaurant $1,500. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

LIFE SAVED TO SPARE TROUBLE

MANILA, March 31.—Gov. Gen. Smith has commuted the death sentence of Papa Ilo, the black Pope of the tribesmen inhabiting the island of Negros. The Governor believed that if Ilo was executed one of his fanatical followers would claim to be Ilo reincarnated and thus renew the trouble.

HURLEY TO PAY $100,000 DEBT WITH MORTGAGES

Cash Exhausted by Borough Bank, Offers Securities to Creditors.

The receivers of the Pillsbury-Washburn Flour Mills Company, of Minneapolis, who are trying to collect an indebtedness of $875,564 from William S. Hurley, of Brooklyn, were authorized by Judge Ward, of the United States Circuit Court, to-day, to accept in lieu of cash, certain real estate, mortgage bonds, promissory notes, mortgage assignments, etc.

Mr. Hurley, who was formerly a flour merchant, was one of the chief officers and stockholders of the Borough Bank of Brooklyn, which went to the wall in the last panic. The bank's difficulties led to the arrest of President Gow and his indictment. The bank later resumed business without loss to the depositors, and it was stated at the time that Hurley had sacrificed largely his personal fortune to put the bank on its feet again.

Hurley is now engaged in the real estate business, mainly in that part of Rockaway and Rockaway Beach known as Laurelton, and proposes to transfer $80,000 of the fourth mortgage bonds of the Laurelton Company and other estates and three notes for $625, payable in two years, to settle his indebtedness.

The property which Hurley offers includes lands, store and warehouse at Nos. 10 to 194 North Fourth street, Brooklyn; land and three-story dwelling at No. 35 South Ninth street, Brooklyn; land and dwelling at No. 59 Jefferson avenue, Brooklyn (Mr. Hurley's home), and mortgages on No. 69 Chasson avenue, No. 245 Fourth avenue, No. 150 Nostrand avenue, on Metropolitan avenue property, on Secaucus's bakery at Coney Island, and the bonds of the Laurelton Land Company.

HENRY CLAY LUKENS DEAD.

Writer Had Forty-Year Career in Newspaper Field.

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—Henry Clay Lukens, for the last forty years an editor and journalist, died suddenly in a hospital here to-day from heart disease. He began newspaper work on the Philadelphia Press and was the originator of the "Pith and Point" column, a feature in some newspapers. He held editorial positions on the New York Daily News and the Charleston (S. C.) World. He was sixty-one years old.

BISHOP GOODSELL'S JUBILEE.

STAMFORD, Conn., March 31.—To the minds of the clerical and lay delegates to the New York East Conference, who gathered at the Stamford Methodist Church this morning, it was during that Bishop Daniel A. Goodsell should preside, for it marked the opening of the golden anniversary of his life in the ministry.

WOMEN TO PRAY AS MEN VOTE ON LOCAL OPTION

Churches of Nassau and Suffolk Counties to Be Open With the Polls Tuesday.

BATTLE A BITTER ONE.

Ministers Lead "Drys" in Fight, but Some of Them Are Allied With "Wets."

Down in Nassau and Suffolk Counties the natives talk and think of little else except the local option election which takes place next Tuesday, April 5, that being Town Meeting Day. All other local issues, such as improvements, bonds and new schools, have been entirely lost sight of in the excitement over the excise question. Hard words are flying about as thick as the mosquitoes will be in the same atmosphere later on, and the bitterness is of a proper consistency to be drawn off and bottled.

From Montauk Point to the Greater New York City line the factions are preparing for the hottest fight the two counties ever knew. For example, it was announced to-day that on next Tuesday afternoon, between 2 o'clock and 5 o'clock—those being the hours during which the polls will be opened—the women of Riverhead, the quaint old seat of Suffolk County, will assemble at the Methodist Church to pray for the success of the local option ticket. Every hour during the day the church bell will be tolled.

Prayers and Votes.

In most of the other churches of the two counties similar prayer meetings will be held—but not in all of them, he it understood, for at least two prominent clergymen are this year arrayed on the side of the "wets."

The license advocates have no stouter champions than the Rev. Dr. W. A. Wasson, of Grace Episcopal Church, at Riverhead, and the Rev. Martin J. Lorenz, of St. John's Lutheran Church, at Lindenhurst. Both are opposed to prohibition, as a panacea for the ills of intemperance.

Dr. Wasson, who has been at odds with some of his brethren many years because of his pronounced views on the liquor problem, comes of a ministerial anti-prohibition family, his brother, the Rev. E. A. Wasson, of Newark, N. J., having gained a wide reputation because of his liberal views on the subject of the regulation of the liquor traffic.

Dr. Wasson, in an open letter issued this week, says:

"Can't Stop Drinking."

"The fact for us to bear in mind is that people do drink liquor, whether it is right or wrong, and that the traffic exists and has always existed whether it is a good institution or a bad one."

"The liquor traffic is absolutely sure to exist in one form or another just as long as there is a considerable number of people who wish to buy liquor. We can no more abolish the traffic by law than we can change the weather conditions by law. Those who think it is wrong to use alcoholic liquor as a beverage have a perfect right to try to bring other people to their way of thinking, but they have no moral right, nor have they a power, to force other people to conform to their rule."

The advocates of local option have flooded the different towns with pamphlets setting forth in various colors what Demon Rum has done to the country. Large four-sheet posters adorn billboards and the country lanes showing scenes from "The Drunkard's Home" and other temperance plays.

NURSE TO TURN TABLES AND SUE THE SESRUN CLUB

Miss Allen Takes Court's Advice and Goes After a Writ of Replevin.

Miss Zella Allen, the trained nurse who has been having so much trouble with the Sesrun Club, at No. 46 West One Hundred and Sixteenth, over a disputed bill of $2.10 appeared in Harlem Police Court to-day ready to prosecute a charge against F. C. Moore, manager, and F. C. Crocker, bookkeeper of the club, of unlawfully holding her clothing and other possessions in her room. But Mr. Moore and Mr. Crocker, who were served with summonses last night, elected to ignore them and failed to appear.

Inasmuch as the dispossession proceedings brought by the club against Miss Allen in the Harlem Municipal Court yesterday were withdrawn, the young nurse is anxious to get into her room and take possession of her effects. But she has been denied admittance to the building, and messengers who have been sent for her clothing were told that she would have to pay the bill in dispute before she could take anything out of the building.

The Sesrun House, after vainly waiting for Moore and Crocker to-day, advised Miss Allen to sue out a writ of replevin and inaugurate a civil suit. She left her court to do up a lawyer.

JASPER RAND DEAD.

SALT LAKE CITY, March 31.—Jasper Rand, a New York millionaire, vice-president of the Ingersoll-Rand Drill Company, president of the Rand Rock Company, and a prominent clubman of New York, died at St. Mark's Hospital last night.

Her Wedding Gift From Papa a Check for Half a Million

TATTOO MARKS MAY IDENTIFY YOUNG SUICIDE

Full-Rigged Ship Between Two German Flags on Chest; Designs on Arm.

The police of the Morrisania station are endeavoring to establish the identity of a young German who ended his life by gas in the furnished room he had rented at No. 724 Third Avenue last night. A pawn ticket for a coat he had pledged in the name of "Hansel" on March 11 for 57 cents was found on him.

After taking possession of the room he rented yesterday the young man told Mrs. Nellie Nolan, the landlady, that he had long been out of work, but had at last found employment as a baker and was to start in at his new place to-day. He told her he was tired from tramping the streets in search of work and intended to get a good night's rest. He paid her thirty cents, his all on account of room rent.

This morning Mrs. Nolan smothered gas when she arose and easily traced it to the room of her new lodger. She called in Detective Thaelen who was passing, and he broke in the door. The jet had been turned on full and all the crevices about the door and windows had been plugged up. The man was dead in his bed.

He was heavily clothed, his thin dark blue suit showing evidences of long and hard wear. On his chest was tattooed a full rigged ship between two German flags. On the right arm was an anchor and on the left a cross.

The suicide was apparently about twenty-two years old, dark hair and eyes and clean shaven. He weighed about 120 pounds and was 5 feet 8 inches tall.

CAN SAVE ALIMONY BY MAKING UP WITH HIS WIFE

Reconciliation Annuls Separation Decree Entered Against Allan Pirie.

The decree of separation which Lea R. Pirie, attorney for Hazel B. Pirie, drew up as directed by Justice Truman and which the latter signed to-day, contained the unusual provision that it might be annulled by the future reconciliation of the young husband and wife.

Mrs. Pirie, who is living with her mother, Mrs. Liebes, at Sheephead Bay, is given sole custody of her little daughter, Hazel, and $200 monthly alimony. Besides this she gets $12 monthly rent from the house given to her by Allan Hawkins Pirie on their wedding day, in 1902, at Evanston, a suburb of Chicago.

Young Pirie, who is the only son of John Pirie, of the Chicago department store of Scott, Bire & Marshall, has been at Ormond Beach, Fla., since he persuaded Justice Davis to let him out of Minnola jail, where he had been locked up on an order of court obtained by his wife when she began this suit for a separation on the ground that he was a resident of Chicago and might elude the court by returning to Chicago. He receives a salary of $150 a month from his father's firm, and has a $500 yacht, an automobile and some fast horses. He did not defend his wife's suit.

OFF ON HARRIMAN'S YACHT.

NEW ORLEANS, March 31.—Julius Kruttschnitt, the director of maintenance and operation of the Harriman lines, accompanied by members of his family and others, left New Orleans this morning on E. H. Harriman's yacht Sultana for a cruise of several weeks in the Gulf.

A Valuable Hint on House Cleaning

Real house cleaning cannot be accomplished without proper disinfection, as soap and water do not kill disease germs or insects.

It is very easy to pour a few drops of CN Disinfectant (non-poisonous) in all cleaning water and to sprinkle it everywhere about the house.

After sweeping over everything with a cloth-covered broom dampened with a CN solution.

By doing this you can secure a healthy home for your dear ones and keep sickness away from your door.
